Low-Cost Enterprise Opportunities For Microbiologists

Date- 20/10/2023

The Department of Microbiology organized an international workshop entitled "Low-cost enterprise opportunities for microbiologists" on October 20, 2023. This event was held to commemorate the centenary celebration of Rashtrasant Tukadoji Maharaj Nagpur University and the 125th birth anniversary of Dr. Punjabrao alias Bhausahab Deshmukh. The work was conducted virtually with the gracious presence of Hon'ble Principal Prof. Dhore, Coordinator Prof. Atul Bobdey, and Convener Dr. Pranita Gulhane and Dr. Riyazuddin Raza.

Dr. Riyazuddin Raza, a researcher from the Institute of Bioengineering at Mignel Hernandez University in Elche, Spain, was the distinguished international resource person. The seminar aimed to raise awareness among students about entrepreneurship with minimum cost budgets. Topics covered includes the entrepreneurship in health sectors, food sectors, and pharmaceutical sectors. Approximately 63 participants engaged in this informative session.

Action Taken:

Approximately 63 participants attended the seminar. The guest speaker provided crucial insights into simple entrepreneurship related topics, offering valuable information on costs of equipments for the same. The session was highly informative, equipping participants with knowledge to effective production. The engaging presentation and interactive discussion greatly enhanced the attendees' understanding and appreciation of the event and topics covered in it.
